Under the backdrop of the Wasatch Mountain Range the AIA Custom Residential Architects Network will convene in Salt Lake City and Park City, UT on October 11-15, 2023, for the eleventh annual national CRAN® Symposium, ‘Living in the West, Building in the West’. The four-day Symposium will convene at the Marriott Element / Le Meridien Hotel in downtown Salt Lake City with presentations from nationally recognized architects, planners, and practice management experts, as well as two afternoon tours visiting notable residential projects from Historic neighborhoods in the Salt Lake Valley to mountain cabins and ski-in properties in Park City and Powder Mountain Resorts.

The AIA CRAN Symposium is the recognized residential design event bringing together residential architects, product and system suppliers and emerging professionals to share knowledge and expertise. Registration and full program details will be available in late July at the AIA CRAN Website.

Come join us to learn and share from each other.
